Oscillot goes for a Spin at Melbourne Flower Show!

Thousands of Melbournians and visitors from around the world have had an opportunity to get close up and personal with the Oscillot system at the prestigious Melbourne International Flower and Garden Show.

Oscillot was displayed and demonstrated on the Exhibition stand of one of our major retailers, the Bluescope/Lysaght Group.

The response was terrific throughout the five days of the show, with inventor Paul Bok and Marketing Manager John Bok constantly in demand to explain how Oscillot works and why. Read more.....

Possums Plea!

During our visit to Melbourne, we were staggered by the fury generated by possums in that city!

Avid gardeners visiting the Show pleaded for help as they told us about the soul-destroying impact of these night-time visitors on their prized roses, camellias and fruit trees. Some of the solutions they suggested for dealing with the problem would certainly not have qualified for RSPCA support!!

They were however heartened to hear that Paul is continuing his trialling of the Oscillot system as a possum deterrent. Read more.....

Tougher Queensland Cat Laws

The Queensland Government has passed legislation which now makes it mandatory for all cats to be registered and microchipped.

Containing cats within their owner's yard by employing a system such as Oscillot is a key plank in the Government's campaign to promote responsible cat ownership and slash feral cat numbers and the predation on native birds and small animals. Read more.....

Send us your Snaps!

As we all know, cats are extremely photogenic, so we'd like to start a cat portrait gallery on our website.
